 part----- 'Tis a whis-----per'd tone- 'tis a gen-----tle word, But it lov'd one's fu-----ture life;----- No cold a-----lien no springs not from the heart----- It may serve for the lov-----er's.

fare-----well lives With-----in her cho-----king sigh;----- But the clo-----sing lay, To be sung 'neath a sun-----mer's sky;----- But deep-----est sob of an-----guish give-- God bless thee, boy, 'Good Bye!' give to me the lips that say The hon-----est words "Good Bye!"

4th V. Go watch the pale and dy-----ing one, When the glance has lost its beam-- When the 2nd V. A---dieu! a---dieu! may greet the ear, In the guise of court-ly speech; But world is cold as the mar-----ble stone, And the brow a pass-----ing stream, And the when 'we leave the kind and dear,' 'Tis not what the heart would teach. When-la-----test press-----ure of the hand, The look of the clos-----ing eye, Yell'd

'er we grasp the hand of those we would have for-ev-----er nigh, The what the heart must un-----der--stand, A long-- a last "Good Bye!" § flame of friendship bursts and glows In the warm, frank words "Good Bye!" §
